Then another of Mr. Morgan's lawyers asked Mr. Belmont to refresh his memory and try to remember that he had caused the resolution indorsing the change of control to be passed because of information that in the Kentucky statutes there was a provision requiring such indorsement, and Mr. Belmont was quick to say that he did recall such a reason.

Mr. Belmont repeatedly heard of the deal by the general uneasiness in Wall street through the forming by Mr. Gates of a practical corner in the stock.

"Mr. Gates informed me of the fact that he had secured control of the Louisville and Nashville and Nashville stock and that it was for sale. We then started negotiations to acquire it from him."

A. When did you secure the Monon road? A. After J. P. Morgan had options on the 305,000 shares of Louisville and Nashville held by Mr. Gates.

Big Insurance Swindle Discovered After Companies Had Paid Out $4,000 on Two Successes.

PLOT IS FAR REACHING.

Policies.

According to statements made before Magistrate Zeller in the Tombs Court to-day, when Bartholomew Ciryano, a barber, of No. 2007 Second avenue, was arraigned charged with violating Section 579 of the Penal Code, the various insurance companies of this city have un earthed a big swindle. By this swindle they have been defrauded out of $75,000 by a gang of Italians who had healthy men insured and then secured corpses of old men and made out false certificates of death in the names of the insured. The following stories were told t Magistrate Zeller by representatives of the insurance companies: On Nov. 11, 1901, Ciryano introduced Rossalo Trandarule, a fruit, merchant, to the Union Central Life Insurance Company and insured him for $2,000 after he had been pronounced insurable by the company's physician. Ciryano also insured him for the same amount Vote with Them They Can in the Washington Life Insurance Company, the Provident Life Insurance Company and the John Hancock Life Insurance Company.

Proofs of Death. On Dec. 16 last the Washington Life Insurance Company received proofs of the death of Trandarule on Dec. 11 at No. 2339 East One Hundred and Eightysecond street, and on the following day was burled in St. Michael's Cemetery. A young woman, who gave the name of Marie D'Alessio, and posed as the dead man's daughter, called at the insurance company a few days after the proofs of death had been presented and collected the $2,000. The same thing was repeated at the Union Central Life Insurance

The officers of these companies became suspicious and yesterday an officer of the company called on District-Attorney Jerome and asked his assistance in securing permission to disinter the supposed body of Trandarule. Assistant District-Attorney Paul Krotel was assigned to the case and yesterday secured an order from Justice Freedman to dig up the body. Accompanied by several of the insurance company's physicians Mr. Krotel went to the cemetery this morning and the grave was opened.

Found Another Man. Instead of finding the formrly healthy Frandarule the coffin revealed the body of a man about eighty years old whose right leg and left arm were missing. The lips of the corpse were sewed up and the toothless mouth filled with catton. The body did not bear the slightest resemblance to the insured Ciryano was arrested this afternoon Magistrate Zeller held the prisoner in 5,000 bail for examination on Monday.
